NCES College Navigator: <https://nces.ed.gov/collegenavigator/>

This site is hosted by The National Center for Educational Statistics, which is within the US Department of Education. From <https://ies.ed.gov/aboutus/> website, “The Institute of Education Sciences (IES) is the statistics, research, and evaluation arm of the U.S. Department of Education. We are independent and non-partisan. Our mission is to provide scientific evidence on which to ground education practice and policy and to share this information in formats that are useful and accessible to educators, parents, policymakers, researchers, and the public.”

The site offers many links, and one of them takes the reader to College Navigator. This is a useful site which provides detailed information about all colleges and universities in the United States receiving federal funding. When choosing an individual institution, selecting the “Expand All” tab, pages of detailed information becomes available. As a sample, here is a screenshot of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign before selecting the “Expand All” tab near the center of the page:

The screenshot displays the NCES College Navigator interface. On the left, there are search filters for Name of School (University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign), State (Illinois), ZIP Code (61820), Level of Award (Certificate, Associate's, Bachelor's, Advanced), Institution Type (Public, Private non-profit, Private for-profit), and Program/Majors. The main content area shows details for the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, including its address (601 E. John Street, Champaign, IL 61820-6711), distance from ZIP (0.0 miles), website (www.illinois.edu), and awards offered (4-year Public, Bachelor's degree, Master's degree, Doctor's degree - research/scholarship, Doctor's degree - professional practice). A map of Champaign, Illinois, is also visible. At the bottom, there are navigation links for 'Expand All' and 'Collapse All'.

Institutional characteristics can be selected on the left. Three colleges/universities can be selected using My Favorites, and their characteristics—such as size, location, cost— and exported for easy comparison.
